ANECDOTE OF THAD STEVENS.—Pierre M. B. Young, now a representative in Congress from Mississippi, was a confederate general and a graduate of West Point. He went to Washington soon after the war, seeking to have his disabilities removed. He came to Thad Stevens, who was chairman of the Election committee, and Thad began to play with him, as he sometimes did those whom he intended to make his victims. He said:

'You are a graduate of West Point, I believe?'

'Yes, sir.'

'Educated at the expense of the United States, I believe, which you swore faithfully to defend?'

'Yes, sir.'

'You went into service for the infernal rebellion?'

'Yes, sir.'

'You were brigade commander in the raid into Pennsylvania, which destroyed the property of so many of my constituents?'

'Yes, sir.'

'It was a squad of men under your direct charge, and under your personal command, that burned my rolling mill down?'

'Yes, sir.'

Young thought he was gone, but seeing that the old veteran had come into the possession of the last fact, which Young did not dream he knew, it was impossible to deny the truth of his questions. Thad roared out, 'Well, I like your impudence. I will see that your disabilities are removed. Good morning.' The next day the bill passed the House.

BURNED FOR SORCERY.—Senor Castellis, Alcalde of Jacobo, in the State of Sinaloa, Mexico, has officially reported to the Perfect of his district that on April 4 he arrested, tried, and burned alive Jose Maria Bounilla and his wife Diega for sorcery, it having been proved that they had bewitched one Silvestre Zacarias. The day before the execution citizen Porras as a final test made Zacarias have three swallows of blessed water, whereupon the latter vomited fragments of a blanket and bunches of hair. The Alcade states that the people were exasperated against the sorcerers, and demanded that they be burned. The sentence was executed with his approval; and, he adds, that he has his eye on other sorcerers, against whom complaints have been made by the citizens. The official Diario of Mexico confirms the report of the outrage, and says several families in the town have since compelled the officer to burn another old woman and her son for the same cause.

FRUITS IN FLORIDA.—Experiments have proved satisfactorily that nearly all the fruits common to the West Indies can be successfully cultivated in Florida. Oranges, lemons, limes, citrons, guavas, mangos, sugar-apples, alligator-pears, sapadillos, pine-apples, and bananas, all grow well, and stand the ordinary winter without damage. Several cocoanut trees were growing finely further south, but were cut down by the cold of last winter. They were, however, only retarded a little in their growth, as they are coming up and looking vigorous, and bid fair to do well, as the cold of the early winter did not kill them.

While on a visit to Hart's Orange grove a few days since we ate several oranges from different trees, and found them luscious and juicy.

The heated term has set in—thermometer 93 degrees, with cooling breezes from the south at night.—Palatka Herald.

This deceptive quality of intoxicants is one argument for the prudence of entire abstinence. Another is found in the propitious difficulty in reforming the hard drinker. Not one-tenth are ever saved. A majority of those who have been temporarily reformed in the inebriate asylums afterwards go back to their wallowing in the mire. Poor Dick Yates, the brilliant Illinois senator, was only one of the million who, having thrust their heads into the anaconda's mouth, were never able to escape. My friend Gough assures me this, after thirty years of Christian living, he cannot trust himself near a bottle. There are men and women who cannot reform. I speak advisedly, after twenty five years of constant dealing with cases of liquor drinking—from the first agree of the youthful beginner to the horrible finale of the delirium tremens. Men have confessed to me, with anguish of spirit: 'This is incurable. I cannot stop.' The few inebriates who are saved are saved as by fire.—Dr. Theodore Cuyler, in the Independent.

Monroe county, Indiana, claims the distinction of possessing one of the oldest, if not the oldest, citizens in the country. He is named William Rose, and he was born at Guilford Court House, N. C., on the 19th of May, 1750, and is consequently more than 115 years old. He lives near Bloomington, and is reported to enjoy excellent health.

IMPORTANT BANKRUPTCY DECISIONS.

OPINIONS DELIVERED AT RICHMOND BY CHIEF JUSTICE WAITE—THE AMENDATORY BANKRUPT ACT OF 1873 UNCONSTITUTIONAL—THE RIGHT TO WAIVE A HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION UNDER THE VIRGINIA LAWS.

The United States Circuit Court-room at Richmond was crowded, last Friday morning, by members of the bar, representing all portions of the State, and by business men of the city, who had been attracted together to hear Chief Justice Waite deliver the opinions of the Court in two important cases. Both decisions was rendered on petitions for a review of bankrupt cases under the second section of the Bankrupt act. The first opinion was given in the case of Daniel Beckert, a bankrupt. The substance of the opinion is given below.

THE LAST AMENDATORY BANKRUPT ACT UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

Mr. Waite said that by article XI of the Constitution of Virginia, adopted in 1869, every householder or head of a family was entitled, in addition to the articles then exempt from levy or distress for rent, to hold exempt from levy and sale under execution, etc; issued on demand for any debt theretofore or thereafter contracted his real personal property, etc; to the value of $2,000, to be selected by himself. By an act of the General Assembly, approved June 27, 1870, effect was given to this provision. Under the original Bankrupt law there was exempted from assignment by a bankrupt such property as was exempt from levy and sale under the execution by the laws of the State in which the bankrupt had his domicile when proceedings in bankruptcy were begun, to an amount not exceeding that allowed by the State Exemption laws in force in 1864. By an amendatory act passed June 8, 1872, this provision was changed so as to give the bankrupt the benefit of the exemptions under laws in force in 1871. In 1872 the Court of Appeals of Virginia unanimously decided (22 Gratt., 266,) that the provision of the Constitution referred to, and the statute giving effect to the same, so far as they applied to contracts entered into or debt contracted before their adoption, were in violation of the Constitution of the United States, therefore void. On March 8, 1873, Congress passed another act declaring the exemptions allowed by the State laws existing in 1871 should be valid against debts contracted before or after the adoption of such State Constitution and laws.

The first question, Mr. Waite said was whether the act of 1873, in so far as it seeks, in the administration of the Bankrupt law, to give and effect to the Exemption laws of a State different from that which is given by the State itself, is constitutional. Congress has the power to establish uniform laws on the subject of bankruptcies throughout the United States. A bankrupt law to be constitutional must be uniform, and whatever rule it prescribes for one it must for all. If it provides that property exempt from execution shall be exempt from assignment in one State, it must in all. If it provides that certain kinds of property shall not be assets under the law in one place, it must make the same provision for every other place within which it is to have effect. It is quite proper to confine the operation of a bankrupt law to such property as other legal process could reach. The act of 1872 excepts from the operation of the assignment not only such property as was actually exempted by virtue of the exemption law, but more. It does not provide that the exemption laws as they exist shall be operative and have effect under the Bankrupt law, but that in each State the property specified in such laws, whether actually exempted by virtue thereof or not, shall be excepted. It in effect declares by its own enactment, without regard to the laws of the States, that there shall be one amount or description of exemption in Virginia and another in Pennsylvania. In this we think it is unconstitutional, and therefore void. It changes existing rights between the debtor and the creditor. Such changes, to be warranted by the Constitution, must be uniform in their operation. This is not so. The consequence is that the act of 1872 remains unchanged, notwithstanding its attempted amendment in 1873.

The act of 1872 gives effect to the exemption laws of Virginia as they existed in 1871. The bankrupt claims his exemption under a law passed in 1870, which does not apply to contracts made or debts incurred previous to the time the new Constitution went into effect. That certainly was not before July 6, 1869, and certain of the debts were incurred previous to that time, so that the bankrupt is not entitled to the benefit of the exemption. One of the contracts made by the bankrupt was entered into Nov. 15, 1869, and the claim under it required that the time when the Constitution went into effect should be determined. Mr. Waite, after reviewing the history of the Constitution, said: In our opinion the Constitution of Virginia took effect, so far as it related to the provision for exemptions, on the 6th of July, 1869—the day of its ratification by the people. It follows that the exemption laws passed to give effect to that are to become operative for the benefit of its citizens from that date.

THE RIGHT TO WAIVE AN EXEMPTION

The second opinion was given in the case of Joseph Solomon, a bankrupt, in which the District Court had declared that the provisions of the State law of June, 1870, allowing a waiver of the exemption, were unconstitutional. The bankrupt had, under the law, waived his right by a clause in a note to the creditors. Mr. Waite said that the exemption laws did not intend to exempt absolutely, but gave a householder the right to claim an exemption. This he must do before a sale, or he could not have an exemption. If he has the right to waive at the time of sale by refusing to select, there is no reason why he cannot waive before. Mr. Waite decided that the Legislature acted within the scope of its constitutional powers in passing the law of 1870, and reversed the judgment of the District Court.

WONDERFUL BILLIARDS.—Adrian Izar, the celebrated French billiards player, gave one of his scientific entertainments in the New castle Town Hall, England, recently, before an appreciative assembly. Though an expert with the cue, his favorite mode of play is by spinning the ball from between the thumb and fore-finger of the right hand. He has this great advantage over his opponents, who use the cue, that he can move his ball from any part of the board and spin it from whichever side of the object ball shall be most favorable for the intended carom or hazard. The first item in the programme was a carom of 150 points up, wherein Mr. G. H. Banks, of the Black Boy's billiard-rooms, received 50 points start, the French professor winning by thirty points. Then followed an exhibition of fancy shots, which has never been surpassed. Mons. Izar played a new stroke, known as the make carom, the ball running the gauntlet of two decanters and sixteen tumbler glasses before making the desired carom. He made carom after carom, causing his ball to describe all sorts of curves, cannons from miss-strokes, cannons on the woodwork of the table, from the table on the floor, caromed with fifteen pyramid balls, spun the balls into all the pockets from every conceivable angle, and wound up a most marvellous entertainment by spinning one of the balls upon a plate for four minutes and a half.

EXPRESS CAR ROBBERY.

A special from Detroit to the Cincinnati Times, dated the 30th ultimo, says: Last night as the Atlantic express, which leaves Chicago at 5:19, was passing between New Buffalo and Niles, two unknown men pried open the front door of the express car, and knocked down S. B. Heath, the messenger, who was sorting his money packages for different stations. One of the men grabbed a package containing $2,700, jumped from the car, and escaped, leaving the other robber struggling with Heath for the mastery in the darkness, the candle having been extinguished. Heath finally drew his pistol and shot the scoundrel in the head, and then himself fell insensible from his injuries. As the train approached Niles he recovered sufficiently to call for help, but was unable to rise. The robber lived only a few seconds after taken from the car.

THE BAR-ROOMS OF SAN FRANCISCO.—The bar-rooms of San Francisco are a feature of that city. It is not so much their number which attracts attention, but the elegance with which they are surrounded. New Orleans and St. Louis are both famed for magnificent bar-rooms, but the splendor of both these cities is effectually paled by the oriental elegance which characterizes the saloons of San Francisco. They are palaces, builded in marble and decorated with gold. All the treasures of art are lavished upon their frescoed ceilings and glazened bars. Beautiful statues occupy niches in the walls. The floors are covered with Brussels carpets which yield like mosses to the feet of the reveler. Large mirrors decorate the walls in which the magnificent scene is reproduced and reproduced until a thousand gleaming lights from massive chandeliers seem to surround you. No wonder that Californians drink and drink. The fascination of one of their first-class bar-rooms is sufficient to lure even a crusader to sip the exhilirating wine.

A FLOATING MENAGERIE.—It is stated that a party of army officers, who have been engaged in mounting guns and otherwise putting the Gulf ports in serviceable condition, while sailing through the Mississippi Sound, since the recent flood, encountered a remarkable scene. For miles were seen logs drift-wood, and patches of turf and soil, floating out into the Gulf, filled with live animals, which cling to their frail barks with the tenacity of shipwrecked mariners. Among the animals were seen rats, raccoons, possums, rabbits, alligators, and moccasin snakes, in uncounted numbers, all brought down from the swamps and marshes, perhaps from fifty to one hundred miles inland.

Gild a big knave, and little honest men will worship him.

SWAZEY AND SELF SUITS—DECISION OF THE COURT.

We give below from the Raleigh Crescent an epitome of the decisions of the United States Court in the Swazey and Self suits. The condensation was made by the Chief Justice himself and therefore covers all the main points of the opinions.

SWAZEY CASE.

The stock subscribed for by the State in the North Carolina Rail Road Company was pledged for the redemption of the certificates of debt issued to borrow money to pay the subscription. It was pledged by the charter of the Company and consequently the corporation holds the stock for the bondholders and the State according to their respective interests.

The certificates of debt bind the State for the payment of the principal and the interest. The stock being pledged as security for the certificates is held both for the principal and the interest.

The courts of the United States are not ousted of their jurisdiction in a cause because a State appears to be interested in the subject matter of the litigation.

By the constitution a State cannot be sued in the courts of the United States, but this prohibition extends only to causes in which a State is a party to the Record. If property in the hands of agents or the agents having it in charge can be brought within the jurisdiction, actions in respect to such property can be maintained in the absence of the State as a party upon the Record.

This suit can be maintained to subject the stock to the payment of the debt for which it is pledged with the Railroad Company as a party to represent it. This was evidently the understanding of the parties when the money was borrowed. The faith of the State was pledged for the payment of principal and interest. But that security could not be made available if payment should be refused. The stock was on that account pledged 'in addition,' but it was not additional security if it could not be enforced. A lien which cannot be enforced is of no value as security.

So much of the stock as is necessary to pay past due interest is ordered to be sold unless on or before April 1st. 1875, the State shall in good faith provide the means for its payment by taxation or otherwise.

SELF CASE.

The use of the special tax fund to pay the general expenses of the State was unlawful, but the wrong, if any exists, has been done.

The Treasurer is a public officer and can only do what the law permits. Courts will not compel an officer to do what the law does not authorize, or restrain him from doing what it requires.

The Treasurer cannot be restrained from paying out money from the treasury until the special tax fund is reimbursed, unless it clearly appears that he holds money in the treasury which the law makes it his duty to apply to that purpose and which he threatens to divert.

The State may be under obligations to provide for such reimbursement, but the State and the Treasurer occupy different positions. The State is bound by its pledge of faith to provide means and pay its debts. The Treasurer is but an agent of the State and bound only to pay its debts when required to do so by a valid law. The court cannot make laws for him, it can only compel him to execute such as have been made.

There being no money now in the hands of the Treasurer which he is authorized or required by any existing law to apply to the reimbursement of the fund, the bill is dismissed.

CHILDS PLAY.

The protest of Messrs E. E. Harris, S. Morrill, Andrew Sykes and Thos. N. Ramsey, which appeared in the Raleigh Republican (Rad.) of the 12th inst. is one of the weakest displays of childish spite that it is possible to concieve. Its very weakness has caused it to fall still born, and it hardly waked an echo anywhere. We only notice it because something of the same thing was tried here, and failed.

If the nomination of Mr. Davis was so unpopular as these Simpersons would have it appear, why has there not been an outcry from other portions of the district? Why is it left for a few self appointed guardians of Mr. Turner's interests to raise the cry of unfairness in his behalf, and in his behalf alone? Why have not the equally disappointed friends of Gen. Cox, of Mr. Amis, of Mr. Manning, and of Mr. Saunders raised their complaints of injustice to their favorites?

The remedy proposed by these protestants is as silly as their complaint. They would have another convention called, to undo the work so emphatically ratified by the joint delegations from all the counties of the district, and nominate another man. Whom? Why, Mr. Turner of course, for he is the only man who has suffered, and the only one whose wrongs are to be righted. How is this to be done? By a packed convention; for none other can choke off opposition. Will the other gentlemen submit quietly to this? Will they not in turn demand a packed convention also?

When is all this to end?

You had better stay where you are, Messrs Harris & Co. The dissatisfaction in the district is of your own imagining. At least it is not of that desperate nature which would sacrifice the interests of the party to private griefs. We can speak for Orange, and while admitting that Mr. Turner was the favorite, as illustrated by the sturdy battling of her delegation for his nomination, still the spirit of that delegation is the spirit of her people. They gave in their adhesion to Capt. Davis in good faith, and the people will go with them.

Orange is not going back on herself.

Mr. Turner has set you an example of submission. Follow that example, and make yourselves the champions of a live conservative cause, instead of contending for a dead issue, or leading yourselves, knowingly or otherwise, to the aggrandizement of the party against which Mr. Turner has battled so fiercely during the past few years. Your dissatisfaction compromises him, does him real injury, damages your own cause, and gives aid and comfort to the enemy.

Go to work like men, and secure Capt. Davis election. If you will keep your hands off from Mr. Turner, there is much in store for him. But you will kill him if you undertake to nurse him. Let him take care of himself, as he was always well able to do.

☞ The New North State has a sneer for Mr. Kerr and for Mr. Strudwick because they are poor, and because the nominations for which they were named were thought necessary by their friends to better their condition.

It is true they are poor. Where is the man that radical rule has not made poor and keeps poor? Who is rich or can be rich, but he who has had his hand in the public purse, and is fattened out of the public crib, or out of the pillage of the people? Office, and plunder, and government patronage keep one class rich while the poverty of the other is the subject of coarse jest.

MR. STRUDWICK'S QUALIFICATIONS.

The Era is much concerned at the alleged want of fitness in this gentleman. The conservative party are not in the habit of consulting the other side in matters of this kind, though it would appear from the officiating kindness and loud manifest sympathy expressed for certain disappointed gentlemen, that the radicals would have made most valuable suggestions to our conventions, and selected just the men we ought to have had.

Mr. Strudwick was selected, like others, because he has qualifications which eminently fit him for the office he seeks. If he has not been prominent as a lawyer, it is not from want of legal learning, but because for reasons personal to himself, he has not chosen regularly to pursue his profession. His capacious mind and his ready aptitude will enable him to fill his position with distinguished credit.

It is refreshing to see a radical paper demanding fitness for office. It is something new certainly. The history of the bench and the bar both, under the action of the present constitution, is direct testimony to the contrary. Some of the Judges will go out of office with perhaps a little more learning than they brought with them, and the same may be said of some of the solicitors.

But ignorance and unfitness have been the rule, and nothing but subserviency to party the test.

THE DANGER TO BE SHUNNED.

There never was a time when the success of the conservative party was more desirable, more important, or more certain, if there is the slightest exercise of those qualities of prudence and moderation so essential to success. But these are the very qualities the conservatives seem least inclined to bring into action. So certain does it seem of victory, so sure it is of the demoralization of the enemy, that it plays with its duty as with a toy, and with the eager greed to possess all, runs the hazard of losing everything. Like Early's troops at Fisher's Hill, who swept the enemy before them, and turned to enjoy the sweet delights of pillage and license, but upon whose confused and dispersed ranks the routed foe again threw themselves with gathered strength, and scattered them like autumn leaves; so the conservatives of this State, have divided themselves to gather the fruits of assured triumph. But "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty," and eternal watchfulness is the price of success. Unbroken discipline must be preserved in the face of an enemy who cannot be despised. The nomination of conventions must be adhered to now. It is too late to recal their acts, even if they have proved unsatisfactory to some.

It is certain that conservative success is more desirable than radical ascendancy. The last has once been proved, and the State will be fortunate if ever she recovers from the effects of it. To invite it again by discontent, by dissent, by obtrusion into candidacies against regular nominations, will be a crime never to be forgotten. If the conservative party is defeated at the coming election, those in its own ranks who have contributed to the disaster will be marked men through their lives. They cannot escape the responsibility of their acts.

Let the party stand together, let it throw off all independent candidates, let it close up its ranks, and stand firm to its tickets, and success is certain.

Judge Waite has decided in the case of Dewey, Assignee of Bank of the State vs. University of N. C. that while the debts due by the University are recognized as valid and binding, the Trustees had no right to mortgage property actually needed for educational purposes, such as the College buildings, grounds &c. All its outside property, escheated lands &c., will go to the creditors, but the mortgage upon the remainder is declared invalid.

We wish we had room for the just and handsome tribute to the character of Judge Waite which is given by the Raleigh News, to which we are indebted for the above information.

"The best laid plans of men and mice &c."

What do our radical friends here say now? since Judge Tourgee has announced himself as a candidate?

He comes in with cool contempt of the plans of others, to pick up the ermine which he had cast away to don Congressional honors. The ex-Judge cares nothing for the feelings of the new converts or their promised rewards. He thinks more of veterans than he does of recruits.

What does our radical friend think now, who told us the other day that he had no honest men in his own party fit for high offices, but had to go outside to get them? What of Judge Tourgee?

AMEN.

"With heartiness and due reverence we say, God intercede in behalf of the Republican party of North Carolina."

Such is the pious ejaculation of the organ of the immaculate Tim, on the occasion of the theft of Tim's private correspondence, and the delight of the Governor at the transaction. Tim ought to be too familiar with the workings of his party to be surprised at any treachery or rascality. There would have been point in his prayer if it had been for deliverance from the republican party in North Carolina.

Mr. H. T. Jordan has been nominated as the conservative candidate for the House of Representatives from Person. Mr. J. was a member in the session of 1870 '71 and was a most able and useful representative, and his county has done well to call him into service again.

Brutal Assault.

A negro boy, named William Faucett, was committed to jail last week for a brutal, and well nigh fatal assault upon a colored girl aged about 16.

It appears that the girl who washes in the family of Mr. James Webb detected among the effects of the prisoner clothing belonging to her employer, which she reclaimed and returned. Exasperated at the exposure, Faucett waylaid her and knocked her down and kicked her in the breast, inflicting injuries which endangered her life. The prisoner secreted himself, but was arrested and failing to give the amount of bail required, he was committed to jail.

The Right Rev. Theodore B. Lyman, Assistant Bishop of the Diocese of North Carolina preached in St Matthew's Church on Sunday morning. It was his first official visit here and his fine appearance, his magnificent voice, his easy manner, and above all, his intellectuality and his sound christian doctrine, made a most marked and favorable impression upon the large congregation assembled in the church.

In the afternoon he administered the Rite of confirmation to six young ladies and delivered a most admirable address.

In the Presbyterian Church, Rev. H. G. Hill, Pastor of the Church at Fayetteville preached to a large congregation in the morning and evening.

MR. EDITOR: Look out for a "Bust."

The boys of Graham organized a Base Ball Club on Friday, and named it the Bald Mountain Club. The following are the officers: C. L. Klapp President, J. P. Allbright Vice President, J. L. Scott Sec. and C. H. Dupuy Treasurer.

They expect to have a big explosion about the 4th of July. The Raleigh Athletics had better be careful how they boast of their championship.

There was a Picnic at Stone Wall Springs last Saturday. The young people say it was a most enjoyable affair.

Good Templars are rustling. Nothing but dull times, linen coats and soda water in Graham now.

To Cure a Cough, to relieve all irritations of the throat, to restore perfect soundness and health to the most delicate organizations of the human frame—the lungs—use Dr. Wister's Balsam of Wild Cherry, which is still prepared with the same care in the selection and compounding of its various ingredients as when it was introduced to the public by Dr. Wistar over forty years since.

THE PIEDMONT SPRINGS.

As the summer heat increases in intensity, and the busy days and sweltering nights of the town and city become unbearable, there is an instinctive rush to the sea coast—somewhere. Some fly to the seaside and seek the coveted refreshment on the shores of old ocean, where the roaring waters and the restless winds invite to recreation.

Some, and in the words of the old song:

Some love to roam
O'er the dark sea foam
Where the wild winds whistle free.

To such we commend the breezy galleries of the Ocean House at Beaufort, and the varied charms of that attractive place. But there are others who will sing,

But a chosen land
In a mountain land
I shall stand to the hills for me.

To such the Piedmont Springs, the advertisement of which will be found in this issue has attractions unequalled by any interior resort in North Carolina, if in fact, anywhere.

In the first place, as a resort for the invalid, its medicinal waters have particular and marked efficacy in Anæmia, general Debility, Neuralgia, and diseases of the skin, and in general invigorating effects, they are truly the fountain of health and rejuvenation.

These springs are near the base of the mountain, the Sauratown range being in full view. The scenery around is grand and magnificent in the extreme. In full view rise Moore's Knob, Hanging rock, and other noted and grand prominencies, while from these points, and from the elevated observatory of the Hotel, one hundred feet high, the eye sweeps over a grand landscape over which dominates the sublime heights of the Blue Ridge. In another direction the lordly Pilot keeps watch over the scene.

Mountain and forest and sparkling streams keep alive in ever-living vigor the sensations of delight and novelty, and the senses are never wearied in the ever renewed enjoyment of the life inspiring air, breathed at an elevation of fifteen hundred feet above the sea.

Should the weather, or the weakness of the invalid forbid out-door exercise, the spacious piazzas of the hotel, giving a promenade of four hundred and fifty feet almost compensate for the deprivation, even if they did not at all times, and for all classes of visitors provide a most attractive enjoyment to the place.

Pleasant rides, or rambles out of doors, good music, dancing parties &c within, good fare, and unremitting attention from the proprietors, added to the pure air and the beautiful scenery must make the "Piedmont Springs" the resort for all those who are not drawn to the sea-side, which alone can compete in attractiveness.

Millner's Tobacco Drier.

The great want with the tobacco planter is a speedy, sure, and perfect mode of curing his tobacco; and ingenuity, coupled with the closest observation and experience has been exercised in every possible way, and until now, with the most unsatisfactory results.

Sun curing was made to give way to coal curing. This last in turn has had to contend of late years with the different contrivances for flue curing, because though superior in its results to sun curing, it has defects in its influence upon flavor, besides being liable to the danger of total loss by accidental fire.

The various flue-driers heretofore attempted to be introduced have not given satisfaction. They are costly and cumbrous, and the influence on flavor is as injurious as with the coal curing plan. Jackson C. Millner of Danville Va. has taken out a patent for a drier, which seems to be perfect. The leading principle is that the furnace is outside of the building, the furnaces connected with heaters which traverse the barn or building, and returning back again to the chimney at the same end with the furnaces, the opposite of interior ends of the flues being united by a transverse flue or heater. These flues are supplied with cut offs by which the heat is regulated.

There are two sets of furnaces, the larger being for the first stage, when a greater degree of heat is required, and the smaller for the later or curing stage.

Attached to the flues are pans of water, which by evaporation keep up the degree of moisture essential to the handling of tobacco, which can be put into market at once, instead of waiting for the hygrometric influence of the natural atmosphere. Every planter will appreciate an advantage which saves so much time.

"The "Drier" has proved a perfect success, and must displace all others. We were told of a crop sold in Danville, part of which was cured by this plan, part by another. Both experiments were on the same crop, and of precisely similar qualities of tobacco.

By Millner's process, the tobacco sold as follows: one class $33 per cwt, grade above, $42 grade beyond $55, leaving the best and highest grade still unsold. Of the same crop, by the other mode the sales were $15, $22, and 30.

Tobacco planters should look into this in time, and inform themselves understandingly. We can give this much information. The price of a heater, which can be used for half a dozen barns, is $50 including the right to use, and Mr. Millner, will come out an put up two or three to start it right. The patent right for this county and for Caswell and Person is for sale, and for information on this point apply at this office.

Tobacco Markets crowded out. Some advance in Danville, with brisk business.

For the Recorder.

MR. EDITOR: Your excellent article on the Orphan Asylum is not out of date, but sadly true. We are feeling, clothing, and teaching one hundred and thirty five children. I have endeavored to reduce the number by discharging the larger boys and girls when good situations are open to them, and by declining the applications of those whose circumstances would allow them to wait for better times. But when a child has no parents, no home, no friends and no money, I know not how to shut the door, and I don't intend to learn. We ought to have opened the Orphan Asylum at the beginning of the Confederate war. Some are now ruined and lost who might have been saved to bless mankind. Many of the children here have been taken from extreme distress and degradation. I was present where a soldier's widow prepared breakfast for a colored family, and she and her little girl had the scraps. The girl is now here and doing well. Yet some of the noblest blood in the State is represented here. Parents die, and riches vanish, leaving children helpless. They came here because there is now here else for them to go. We cannot afford to let the institution fail. We have already taken a large number of boys and girls out of poverty and wretchedness, and put them into honorable and useful avocations. Will the people allow such a work to cease? I am not able to believe it. We use the most rigid economy, and yet in May our expenses were more than twice our income. But we have no outstanding bills, nor salaries due. All our engagements have been promptly met, and June promises to relieve the anxieties of the past. I would be very glad, if you and other editors could visit the Orphan Asylum and let me show you the children, and tell you whence they come. Then by comparing their low beginnings with their present attainments, you could properly estimate the orphan work, its value, and the necessity for its continuance.

J. H. MILLS.

Oxford, June 18th.

MESSRS CULVER BROTHERS.

These gentlemen, who have made Charlotte their headquarters since they have been engaged in the selling of stoves in the Carolinas, will leave us now in the course of a week or two for new fields. We regret this. The Culvers are men "chuck full" of business and enterprise, and it is always desirable to have such in a community. We would be glad if they would settle in Charlotte.

Themselves gentlemen, they have brought with them only gentlemen as salesmen. It is well known that travelling men as a class are apt to be uncouth rowdyish fellows, and in most refined communities the very name of traveling dealers is odious. But if any such prejudice existed in this section against the Culvers and their employes when they first come here, it has all passed away ere this, for by their uniform courtesy and good behavior they have made friends of all those with whom they have been thrown, and have effectually lived down any enmity which may have existed toward them before they were known. For some time past the whole party have been boarding at the Central Hotel, in this city, and though the average number has been 25 or 30 men, the proprietor, Mr. Eccles, tells us that he has yet to know of the first instance where any one of them has been guilty of conduct unbecoming a gentleman. Often there has been as many as 40 of them in the house at one time, and a more orderly or better behaved set of men he never had in his hotel. It would be hard to say this of 40 men of any calling who happened accidentally to be thrown in one place at the same time.

The Culvers are operating on an extensive capital; they are doing a large business and can not afford to have other than gentlemen in their employ. During the eight months in which they have been in Charlotte, they have had here on an average 25 to 30 men, as was remarked above, and from 50 to 60 head of stock, in addition to the families of the principals. Their presence has been a source of revenue; and when they leave it will not be like the leaving of most traveling parties—they will not take with them money from people who have not realized value received for all paid.

As to the quality of goods which they have been selling, we know nothing of our own knowledge. But the heavy sales which they have made, and the fact that they have received but one complaint from all those to whom they sold, is a sufficient recommendation for them wherever they may go. Within the range embracing the counties of Cabarrus, Union, Mecklenburg, Gaston, and one or two other counties in South Carolina, on the line of this State they have sold upward of 600 of their stoves, and have given universal satisfaction to those with whom they have dealt. While they have sold a great many stoves, the local dealers inform that they have not interfered materially with the local trade, and that they believe that their having come here will redound to their benefit. They have thoroughly advertised the stove business in the country, and their canvass will increase the sale of these articles as no man who can afford to buy will now be without one, and those who now have one will be obliged to have another if the present one should get broken or wear out.

We are strictly conscientious in what we have said above, and will close by saying that we can commend Messrs CULVER BROS. and their salesmen as gentlemen who will deal fairly, and be prompt to meet all of their obligations.—Charlotte Observer.

The gentlemen engaged with us in the sale of our stoves are men selected from among the best in the South, most of whom have been with us for years, and we can truthfully say they are men of undoubted veracity, sober habits, industrious, and in all things honorable. You may at all times rely upon their word. We do not wish or desire to force our stoves upon you, but we are compelled to eat, and Nature has kindly combined this necessity with a keen enjoyment of a proper compliance. Thousands of pale-faced, sour-tempered, querulous dyspeptics have thanked God, and taken fresh spirit and good humor since the introduction of Cooking stoves, and myriads of the victims of the frying-pan and burnt biscuits will thank CULVER BROTHERS for their enterprise and energy in putting them within reach of all. The XIXth century is distinguished for its capacity to eat, digest and live. To give this distinction, besides many other of the best features, to the use of the [illegible] stove. "We can live without poetry, music and art; we can live without [illegible] live without heart; we can live without friends, we can live without books, but civilized man can not live without cooks."—Man can live without books, what is knowledge but grieving? He can live without hope, what is hope but deceiving? He can live without love, what is passion but pining? but where is the man that can live without dining?—Exchange.

DANVILLE ITEMS.

The new and magnificent Court House is finished, and is both useful and ornamental.

The new Arlington House, one of the largest and finest hotels in the State is now opened, and we learn is doing a fine business.

The old Paxton, under the charge of the genial Nick Wade, retains its popularity, and will not suffer by rivalship or competition.

The L. & D. railroad is in full operation, and there are now two daily passenger trains daily through to Alexandria. The road promises to be an important feature in the freight business of Danville.

Contracts have been entered into to supply Danville with gas and water—both very much needed. This, together with the improvements in paving now going on will add greatly to the city character of the old town.

The tobacco business is very active, about 25 factories are in full operation. The Warehouses, all of them, are fully employed, with a greater steadiness of business, and more uniformity, steadiness and satisfaction in prices than are now found in any other market.

We took some memoranda of the transactions of most of them, but have unfortunately mislaid them. We remember that during the week, the old and active Planters had sold 150,000 pounds, at a high average, and this house maintains its well earned celebrity. Holland's is doing a large business, and a satisfactory one, as shown by a sale of Granville tobacco, as follows: $68, $49, $44, $32, $25, $23, and $11.75 per cwt. The Star sold a lot for David Parish of this county, 1932 lbs which netted him $554.31. Pace's has as much as it can do, and we witnessed sales there running as high as any. This result may always be assumed at Pace's. Our old friends at the Farmer's are doing well, and it is now firmly fixed in the confidence of the farmers of North Carolina. Buck Thomas is not forgotten by his old friends.

Among the institutions of Danville is the Millinery establishment of Mrs. Snead, where one at all susceptible to the influences of good taste would be captivated with the charming handiwork of the establishment. We hope our fair readers will learn to patronize a house where we are sure every requisite of taste, beauty and economy will be gratified.

DR. RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent

THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER.

HAS MADE THE MOST ASTONISHING CURES. SO QUICK, SO RAPID ARE THE CHANGES, THE VERY SUSPICION OF DISEASE UNDER THE INFLUENCE OF THIS TRULY WONDERFUL MEDICINE, THAT

Every Day an Increase in Flesh and Weight is Seen and Felt.

Every drop of the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT communicates through the blood, sweat, urine, breath, and other fluids and tissues of the body with every remaining particle, Syphilis, Consumption, scrofulous disease, Ulcers in the throat, mouth, Tumors, Rodents in the stomach and other parts, Cancerous affections, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Fever Sores, Scaly Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches, Spots, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Scurfiness, and Dryness of the skin, Scrofulous Inflammations, Chronic Rheumatism, Dropsy, Kidney Complaints, Gout, Dyspepsia, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Constipation, Piles, Female Weaknesses, Leucorrhœa, Ulceration of the Uterus, Chronic Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Bilious Fevers, Jaundice, Nervousness, Nervous Debility, Mercurial Diseases, Mental Anxiety, Loss of Sperm and all wastes of the life principle, are within the curative power of this wonderful Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and I now defy the world to produce a remedy that will equal it in the combined power to cure them.

In the present, daily increasing reliance by the sorely afflicted upon Sarsaparilla for a restoration to health, and the unparalleled and wonderful cures that are daily being made by my SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT, it is but reasonable to suppose that I am not claiming too much for it when I say that it is the best blood purifier ever discovered, and that the SARSAPARILLIAN will and does overcome more certainly, speedily, and permanently, and with less change in the diet, than any other remedy. Not only does the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT expel all known impurities from the blood, but it at the same time builds up the wasted tissues with new and healthy material.

Under the influence of the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT, the patient gains flesh and strength rapidly, every vital function performs its duties with energy, the blood is pure, the skin clear, the complexion rich with the glow of health, and every part and portion of the body is invested with physical perfection.

VINEGAR BITTERS

PURELY VEGETABLE TRUE TONIC

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA ALCOHOL

VINEGAR BITTERS

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.
